PRESIDENT, ROSEMARY WILDE 2018-2020

Well, here we are on the cusp of summer. For me, the relatively cool and wet winter was a nice change. This spring like weather in the 60s and low 70s is what I really enjoy. My front garden is looking lovely with a mix of California poppies and Sweet Peas which are all volunteers this year.

Our Club year is almost over and as Club Women we have been busy collecting shoes, bras and making blankets for the homeless people and also the homeless pets awaiting their forever parents at the animal shelter.

If you have time to make blankets over the summer, contact myself or Janet Flickinger after the end of May.

A group of members have been out buying clothes for each of the children at City Center. I thank them for all their work, matching each name and age with clothing that is very much needed. The clothing is scheduled to be delivered on Friday April 19th.

Unfortunately I will miss the May General meeting.

I hope you all have a good summer and continue to play Canasta, Bridge, Bunco and attend Fun-Dough during the summer break.

FROM THE EDITOR-You are receiving this newsletter early due to my vacation plans. Please remember that after this newsletter there is limited newsletters during the summer break. Will be back with a full Buena Brief's in time for the September meeting.

Happy summer everyone.

LESSONS OF A GOOSE

When you see geese flying along in a "V" formation, you might consider what science has discovered as to why they fly that way. As each bird flaps its wings, it creates uplift for the bird immediately following. By flying in "V" formation, the whole flock adds at least 71 % greater flying range than if each bird flew on its own.

People who share a common direction and sense of community can get where they are going more quickly and easily because they are traveling on the thrust of one another.

When a goose falls out of formation, it suddenly feels the drag and resistance of trying to go it alone and quickly gets back into formation to take advantage of the lifting power of the bird in front.

If we have as much sense as a goose, we will stay in formation and share information with those people who are headed the same way we are.

When the head goose gets tired, it rotates back in the wing and another goose flies point.

It pays to share leadership and take turns doing the hard jobs.

It is sensible to take turns doing demanding jobs, whether with people or with geese flying south.

Geese honk from behind to encourage those up front to keep up their speed. Words of support and inspiration help energize those on the front line to keep pace in spite of the day to day pressure and fatigue.

What messages do we give when we honk from behind?

It is important our honking be encouraging, otherwise it's just --well, honking.

Finally, and this is important, when a goose gets sick or is wounded and falls out of formation, two other geese fall out with that goose and follow it down to lend help and protection. They stay with the fallen goose until it is able to fly or until it dies, and only then do they launch out on their own or with another formation to catch up with their group. When one of us is down, it is up to others to stand by us in our time of need.

If we have the sense of a goose, we will stand by each other like that when things get rough. We will stay in formation with those headed where we want to go.

The next time you see a formation of geese remember their message that "It is indeed

a reward

a challenge

a privilege

to be a contributing member of a team."

Think of the flock of geese as members

A reward,

A challenge

A privilege to be a part of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.
